Preface

The CUMULATIVE INDEX TO NURSING & ALLIED HEALTH LITERATURE (CINAHL) is a comprehensive and authoritative index to current periodical literature for nurses, allied health professionals, and others interested in health care issues. Approximately 300 nursing, allied health, and health-related journals are regularly reviewed and indexed for inclusion in CINAHL's five bimonthly issues and cumulative bound volume. Indexing also includes pertinent articles from 2600 biomedical journals indexed in INDEX MEDICUS as well as relevant material from popular journals.

CINAHL, the first index to periodical literature in nursing, began in 1956 and is the only index to nursing periodicals for the years 1960 to 1965. Today CINAHL is indexing most nursing periodicals published in the English language. CINAHL indexes the publications of the National League for Nursing, the American Nurses' Association, and since 1972, the state nursing associations.

Keeping pace with the trend toward the multidisciplinary approach to health care, CINAHL in 1977 extended its coverage of allied health. It is currently indexing the periodical literature of cardiopulmonary technology, emergency services, health education, medical and laboratory technology, the medical assistant, medical records, occupational therapy, physical therapy and rehabilitation, radiologic technology, respiratory therapy, and social service in health care.

CINAHL's principal focus is patient care. It is designed to guide the practitioner, the educator, the researcher, and the student in professional growth.

Criteria for Selection of Materials

A. Articles from nursing and allied health journals which meet the following criteria:
   1. Original, substantive signed, and selected unsigned, articles.
   2. Editorials of national and international scope and interest.
   3. Biographies and obituaries with substantive background materials. Reports about outstanding nurses and allied health professionals. (See Author Section)
   4. Reports of national and international organizations and conventions which have comprehensive information or content.
   5. Important national legislation regarding basic changes pertinent to health professionals or regarding major health plans.
   6. Poetry, if considered pertinent.

B. Articles from medical science journals and from selected popular periodicals with nursing or allied health content, or otherwise of interest to the professionals in those fields.

C. Serials and pamphlets published by the American Nurses' Association; the National League for Nursing; and the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Nursing.

D. Audio-visual materials, book reviews, and pamphlets as listed in the journals indexed.

E. Types of materials NOT included in the Index:
   1. Information of dated or transient nature, e.g. news items, notices of meetings, elections, committee activities.
   2. Abstracts, briefs, summaries.
   3. Financial reports, resolutions and bylaws.
   4. Reprints of materials, except those in foreign journals.
   5. Editorials of local interest; letters to the editor.
   6. Promotional or parochial articles.

How to Use the Index

Articles and information on health care, nursing, and allied health can easily be located by consulting CINAHL either by subject or by author.

The preliminary pages of all issues contain information important to the effective use of the Index. These pages contain the criteria for selection of materials indexed, this guide to "How to Use the Index", a list of journals regularly indexed, and an ancillary list of journals from which articles are selectively indexed.

The five bimonthly issues and the cumulative bound volume both contain an Appendix, which lists audio-visual materials (listed by producer or title), book reviews (by author of the book), and pamphlets (by publisher, author, or title). Both contain the journal lists and full journal titles for the abbreviations used in citations. Both list U.S. Government abbreviations used in publications.

In addition, each Annual Cumulation contains:

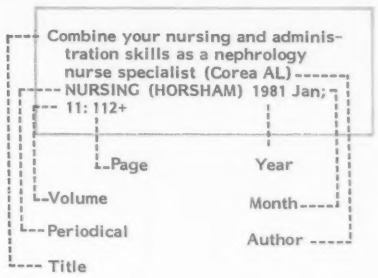
Journal addresses, guide to Regional Medical Libraries, and the list of Subject Headings and Cross References ("Yellow Pages" or Thesaurus).

Beginning a CINAHL Search . . . by Subject

Every search should start with the list of Subject Headings and Cross References (the Thesaurus or "Yellow Pages") in the latest Annual Cumulation volume. From this point, work back through earlier volumes and/or forward through the current bimonthly issues. Consult the Thesaurus in each volume for detailed information about that year's subject headings.

CINAHL editors and indexers have the unique freedom to establish new subject headings responsive to rapidly changing concepts and trends. Indexers assign to articles as many subject headings as are necessary to provide easy access to the literature.

Beginning a CINAHL Search . . . by Author



Since 1967, Vol. 12, the Author Section follows the Subject Section. Before 1967, authors appear interfiled alphabetically with subjects.

Interpreting the Citation

As of 1981, the sequence of bibliographic data within each citation conforms to the standards for bibliographic references as established by the American National Standards Institute. The following page of examples will assist the user in interpreting subject and author citations.

Citation Examples

In the Subject Section Citation, the bibliographic data is identified as follows:

and may include the descriptors:
Research
Research, medicine
Research, nursing

Elderly loneliness and its relation to residential care (Rainwater AJ) (research, nurs) J GERONTOL NURS 1980 Oct; 6: 593-9 or the additional descriptors:

Care study
Pictorial

Joint position biofeedback facilitation of physical therapy in gait training (Koheil R et al) (care st) (pictorial) AM J PHYS MED 1980 Dec; 59: 288-97

When an article title is not definitive, CINAHL indexers add a descriptive subtitle, as in the case below: ". . . benefits of congregate eating far outweigh the drawbacks".

It was easier, but...benefits of congregate eating far outweigh the drawbacks (Grall E) GERIATR NURS 1981 Sep/Oct; 2: 353-4

Frequently, subject headings have subdivisions:

ELBOW

ELBOW--ANATOMY

ELBOW--INJURIES

Geographic subheadings are used when the article content includes significant geographic data or the historical importance requires geographic identification:

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL SECURITY
--GREAT BRITAIN

"See" references direct the user from terms not used to terms used (annual only):

Asepsis See: INFECTION CONTROL

"See also" references direct the user from a general term to a more specific term (annual only):

EDEMA
See also: PULMONARY EDEMA

"See related" (cf) references suggest comparing the subject under consideration with a parallel term (annual only):

GROUP WORK
cf TEAMWORK

The Author Section lists a maximum of three authors:

ADAM WE, BITTER F, GEFFERS H ET AL: Assessment of left ventricular function during exercise by radionuclide ventriculography. CVP 1981 Dec/Jan; 9: 47-9+ with "See" references listed alphabetically for the second and third authors:

BITTER F See: ADAM WE

GEFFERS H See: ADAM WE

Biographies and Obituaries are included in the Author Section. The name of the biographee or deceased appears alphabetically in lower case letters in parentheses.

ARTICLE COPYING SERVICE: CINAHL's extensive depository contains all materials indexed in CINAHL. Librarians unable to obtain copies of articles through local sources or the Regional Medical Library can secure copies from the Glendale Adventist Medical Center Library, CINAHL Depository, 1509 Wilson Terrace, Glendale, CA 91206, (213) 240-8000, ext. 531. The fee: $5.50 per article. Please use the standard ALA Interlibrary Loan Form and authorize billing on each request.

* The National Library of Medicine restructured the regions during the past year, reducing the number from 11 to 7. As of CINAHL's press time, only 4 of the 7 contracts had been awarded. For the most current information regarding the 3 still unnamed, contact your nearest Regional Medical Library or the National Library of Medicine at (301) 496-2370.
